Cully wins top prize at annual meeting

John Cully drove away with the Kubota RTV 400 at Northwestern Electric's 75th Annual Meeting. "I was astonished and a bit overwhelmed when I heard my name," said John. "I told my wife I didn't think I would win anything tonight because I wasn't feeling lucky. I want to say 'thank you, thank you, thank you' to Northwestern Electric and Arnett New Holland/Kubota for the grand prize."

Around 1,700 members and guests gathered at the Woodward County Event Center on Apr. 7 for a free barbecue meal, entertainment and the Cooperative's business meeting.

The A Bar Bunkhouse Band from eastern Oklahoma entertained the members while they enjoyed the meal catered by Adventures In Catering. Boomer Expressions small ensemble sang the national anthem and C. J. Montgomery, Woodward Chamber of Commerce president, gave the welcome.

During the business session, members heard reports on the general condition and financial status of the Cooperative. The meeting concluded with a prize drawing for 79 items including children's prizes and the Kubota RTV 400.

Kenny Knowles, NWEC board president, congratulates John Cully for winning the Kubota RTV 400 sponsored in part by Arnett New Holland/Kubota at NWEC's 2016 annual meeting.

Practical pointers for National Electrical Safety Month

May is National Electrical Safety Month, and Northwestern Electric Cooperative is joining with the Electrical Safety Foundation International to raise awareness about potential home electrical hazards and the importance of electrical safety.

According to the Consumer Electronics Association, the average home today has a minimum of three televisions, two DVD players, at least one digital camera, one desktop computer, and two cell phones.

“Modern homes run on electricity, but if you don’t properly maintain your electrical products they can create hazards,” warns Jonna Hensley, NWEC member services and communications coordinator. “The good news is that eliminating electrical hazards from your home doesn’t have to be difficult or expensive.”

Many homes and their electrical systems were built before most modern-day home electronics and appliances were even invented. Today’s increased demand for energy can overburden an older home’s electrical system.

NWEC offers the following tips to help identify and eliminate electrical hazards to protect yourself, your family, and your home:

- Make sure entertainment centers and computer equipment have plenty of space around them for ventilation.
- Use extension cords as a temporary solution, and never as a permanent power supply.
- Do not place extension cords in high traffic areas, under carpets, or across walkways, where they pose a potential tripping hazard.
- Use a surge protector to protect your computer and other electronic equipment from damage caused by voltage changes. (5738001)
- Heavy reliance on power strips is an indication that you have too few outlets to address your needs. Have additional outlets installed by a qualified, licensed electrician.
- Keep liquids, including drinks, away from electrical items such as televisions and computers.

Avoid overloading power strips. Have a licensed electrician install more outlets to meet your needs.

Electrical safety awareness and education among consumers, families, employees, and communities will prevent electrical fires, injuries, and fatalities.

The Electrical Safety Foundation International (ESFI) sponsors National Electrical Safety Month each May to increase public awareness of the electrical hazards around us at home, work, school, and play. ESFI is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization dedicated exclusively to promoting electrical safety. For more information about ESFI and electrical safety, visit www.electrical-safety.org.

Hidden account number contest

Last month’s numbers went unclaimed. They belonged to Ben Richard and Larry Beavers.

For those of you who aren’t familiar with the contest, this is how it works. We have hidden two account numbers somewhere in the articles in this newsletter. The numbers will always be enclosed in parentheses and will look similar to this example (XXXXXX).

If you recognize your account number, all you have to do is give us a call on or before the 8th of the current month and we’ll give you a credit on your bill for the amount stated.

This month’s numbers are worth $50 each. Happy hunting!

German Chocolate Upside Down Cake

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 cup sweetened flaked coconut | 1 (18 ounce) box German chocolate cake mix (with pudding) |
| 1 cup pecans, finely chopped | 1 1/4 cups water |
| 3 1/2 cups powdered sugar | 1/3 cup oil |
| 1 cup margarine, melted | 3 eggs |
| 8 ounces cream cheese, softened | |

Preheat oven to 375°F Grease and flour 13x9 inch pan. Sprinkle coconut and pecans evenly over the bottom of the pan and set aside.

In a large mixing bowl, mix cake mix, water, oil and eggs as directed on the box. Carefully pour batter over coconut and pecans in prepared pan.

Mix melted margarine, cream cheese and powdered sugar in large bowl on low speed for 30 seconds, or until well mixed. Increase mixer speed to medium and beat 30 seconds more, or until smooth.

Spoon cream cheese over batter, leaving a 1 inch border of batter around the sides of the pan, and smooth with spatula.

Bake for 43-48 minutes, or until the cream cheese mixture has turned golden brown and the cake springs back when touched lightly.

Remove from oven and set cool for 20 minutes. Run a sharp knife around the edge of the cake and invert it onto serving platter. Let rest for 20 minutes more, then slice and serve.
